Replace this "Tell us about your work" box with a customized, "friendly" CAPCHA-like security tool based on the following multiple choice prompt:

Complete this quote by legendary astronaut Neil Armstrong:

That's one small step for man--one giant leap for

x frogs x mankind x LeBron

Clicking mankind submits the request.

If user chooses frogs or LeBron, then the site will repond by saying:

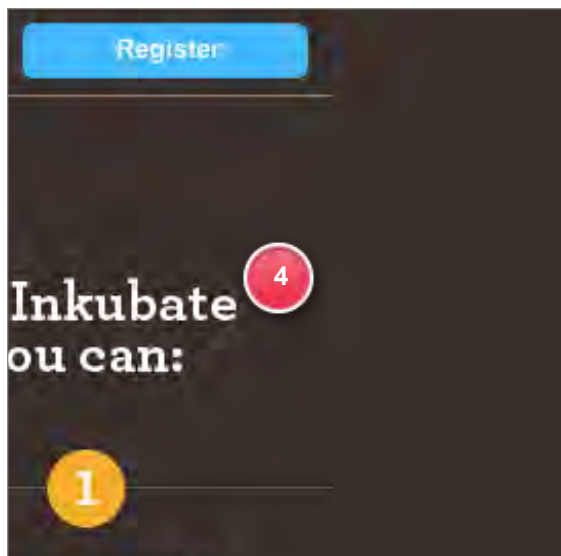

Try again!

The same three choices appear but the user's first choice has a strike through or is grayed out.

If the user answers incorrectly again, the system says,

"Let me help you." and displays the three choices with "mankind" as the only operable button.

Jay Gale on Jul 30 at 10:12pm

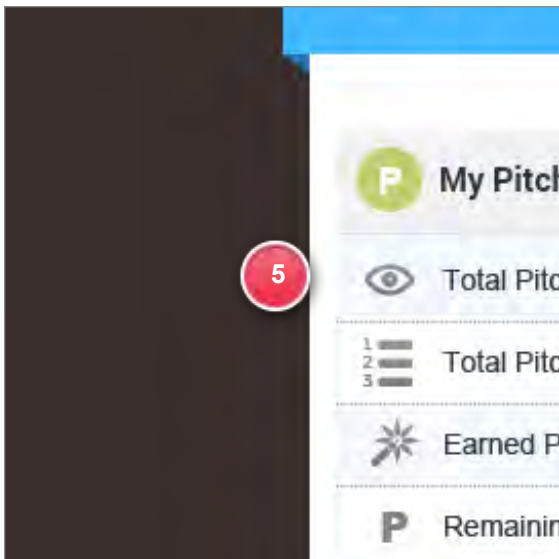

This is Stacy commenting: I prefer "Latest Pitchits!" since they may expire based on the time frame that they run. "Latest" can apply to the most recent chronological Pitchits! regardless of whether they are still in play if you will.

Make numbers align in a column.

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 29 at 11:19pm

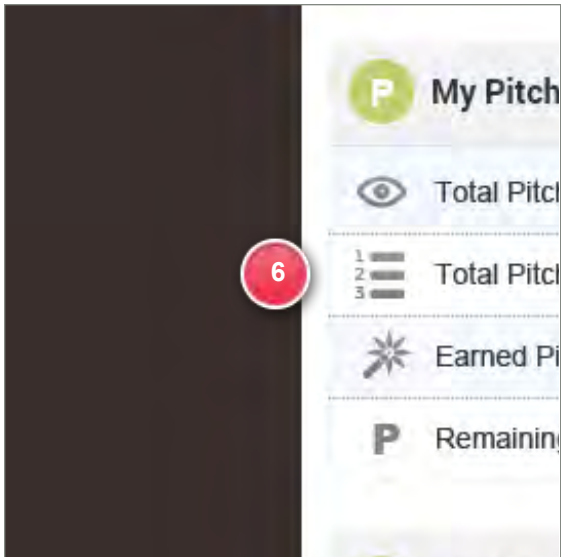

Change this title to "Pitchits! Viewed by AEPs"

Clicking on this takes you to a default view of all Pitchits! that have been viewed. The default view is chronological with the most recently viewed PI at the top.

Writers could opt to view data by the number of views that a Pitchit! received, with the highest number appearing at the top of the page.

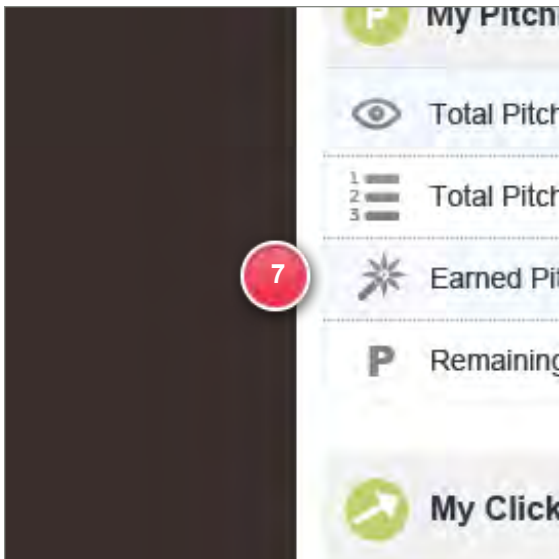

Writers will not see the name of the AEP displayed.

Change "Public" to "Visibility"

Spectacles with eyes open will indicate that the work is Visible to AEPs. Spectacles with eyes closed will indicate that the work is not visible to AEPs.

NOTE - User will control this setting on the individual work page.

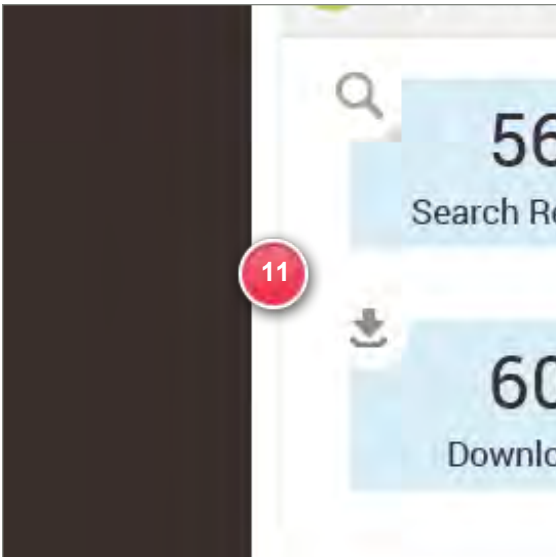

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 29 at 11:32pm

Need to add a Help "?" icon that turns hover help on or off. Hover help ? should appear on each section of all pages. When Hover help is on, a user views explanatory text when mousing over a section of the page wherever a ? appears, such as the "My Pitchits!" section on a writer's Dash and "What's New?" section for an AEP's Dash. We will provide content for all hover help locations across the whole site.

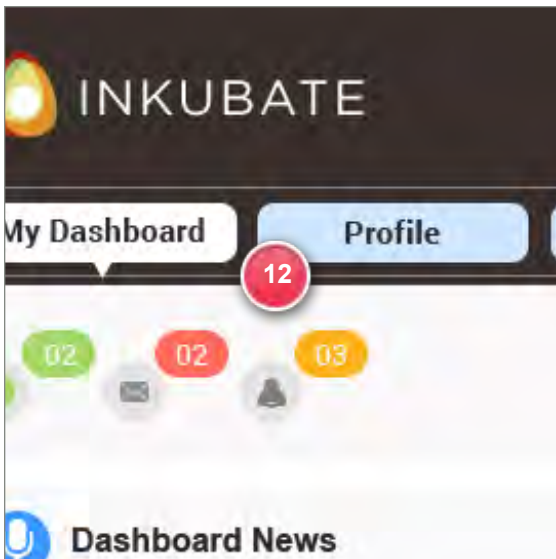

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 28 at 7:57pm

Clicking on one of these should take you to a preselected list of the chosen criteria. Once there, user should be able to use a drop-down menu to change to the other criteria. List should have ability to sort order by alphabetical, most recent activity or most activity. The date of the most recent activity for each work should be displayed. Clicking on a work should display all activity for it plus dates.

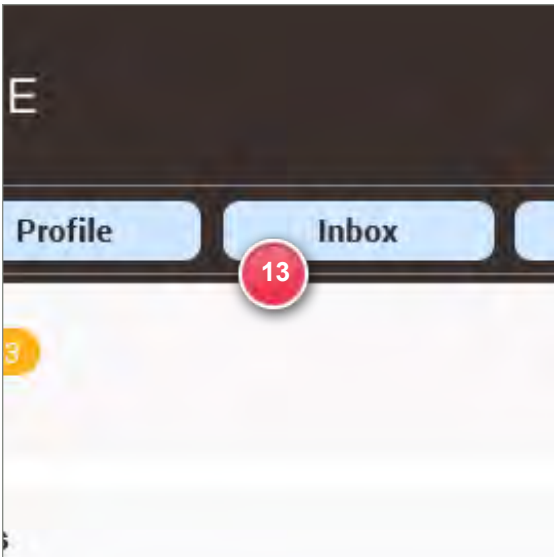

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 30 at 6:35pm

J and S agree that we can drop Profile tab here b/c Profile editing is accessible on top right of dash.

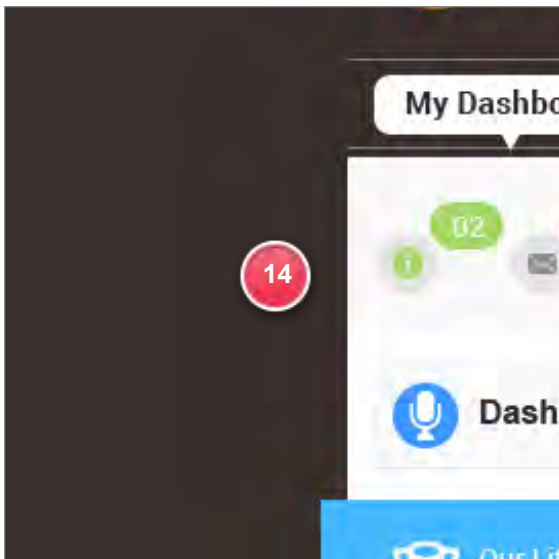

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 30 at 6:37pm

J & S agree that "Inbox" tab should become "My Notifications" tab.

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 30 at 6:48pm

J and S agree should move (i) invite icon to another part of Dash. Also, the (i) may confuse writers since it looks like an "information" icon. So we propose changing the invite icon to something like a gift box icon or a bow or something to indicate that it's something that's given by the writer.

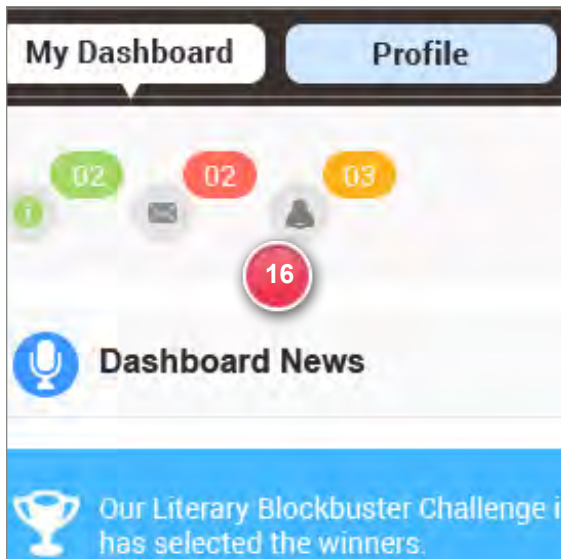

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 30 at 6:58pm

The hover should be called "New Messages." Clicking on a message in the hover should bring writer to the inbox of the "My Notifications." The inbox should be presorted so that the in-line messages are displayed at the top with a red envelope next to them.

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 30 at 7:11pm

This bell icon needs a hover similar to the envelope icon that says "New Alerts" and lists the first and/or more alerts for writer.

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 29 at 2:01pm

Takes you to single page interface with all your Pitchits! available for view.

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 29 at 2:03pm

When a writer begins there will be no PI here. So in this space we need a "Create a PI" button. The associated landing page will prompt writer to compose PI and select the work that it is associated with. If writer only has one work, the system should automatically prompt writer to choose it. If more than one work exists, system will promote drop-down box of works for Writer to choose from. So we need to be SURE that the writer selects the specific work that a PI is for. If the writer has not yet uploaded a work, then system must notify them that they need to upload a work first.

NOTE--After a writer buys a PI, there will still need to be a "Create a PI" button here so writers can easily add PI without going to the Remaining Pitchits! tab on left side of page.

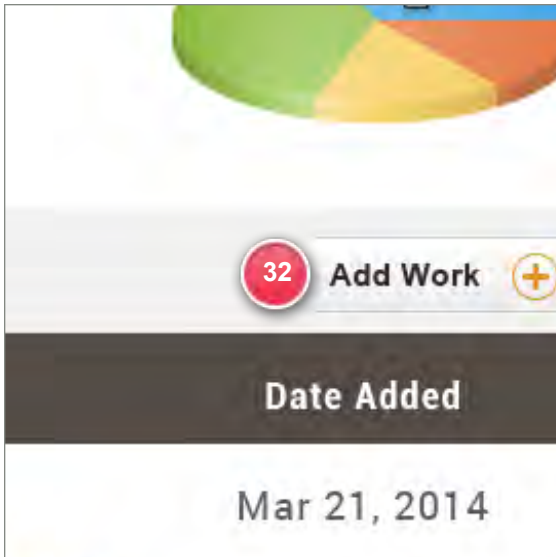

(Note - we will provide separate guidance on PI logistics.

Once a PI is deployed, it will show up here as an Active PI.

Please note that we want to change the data organization of this section.

See other comment in this section for details on display of data.

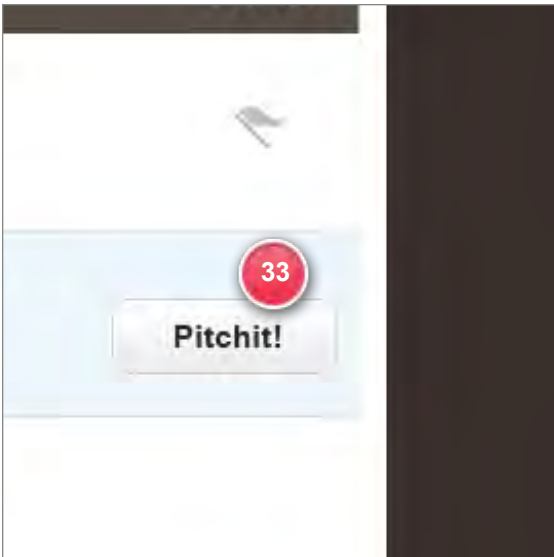

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 29 at 2:04pm

Brings you directly to the "add work" interface

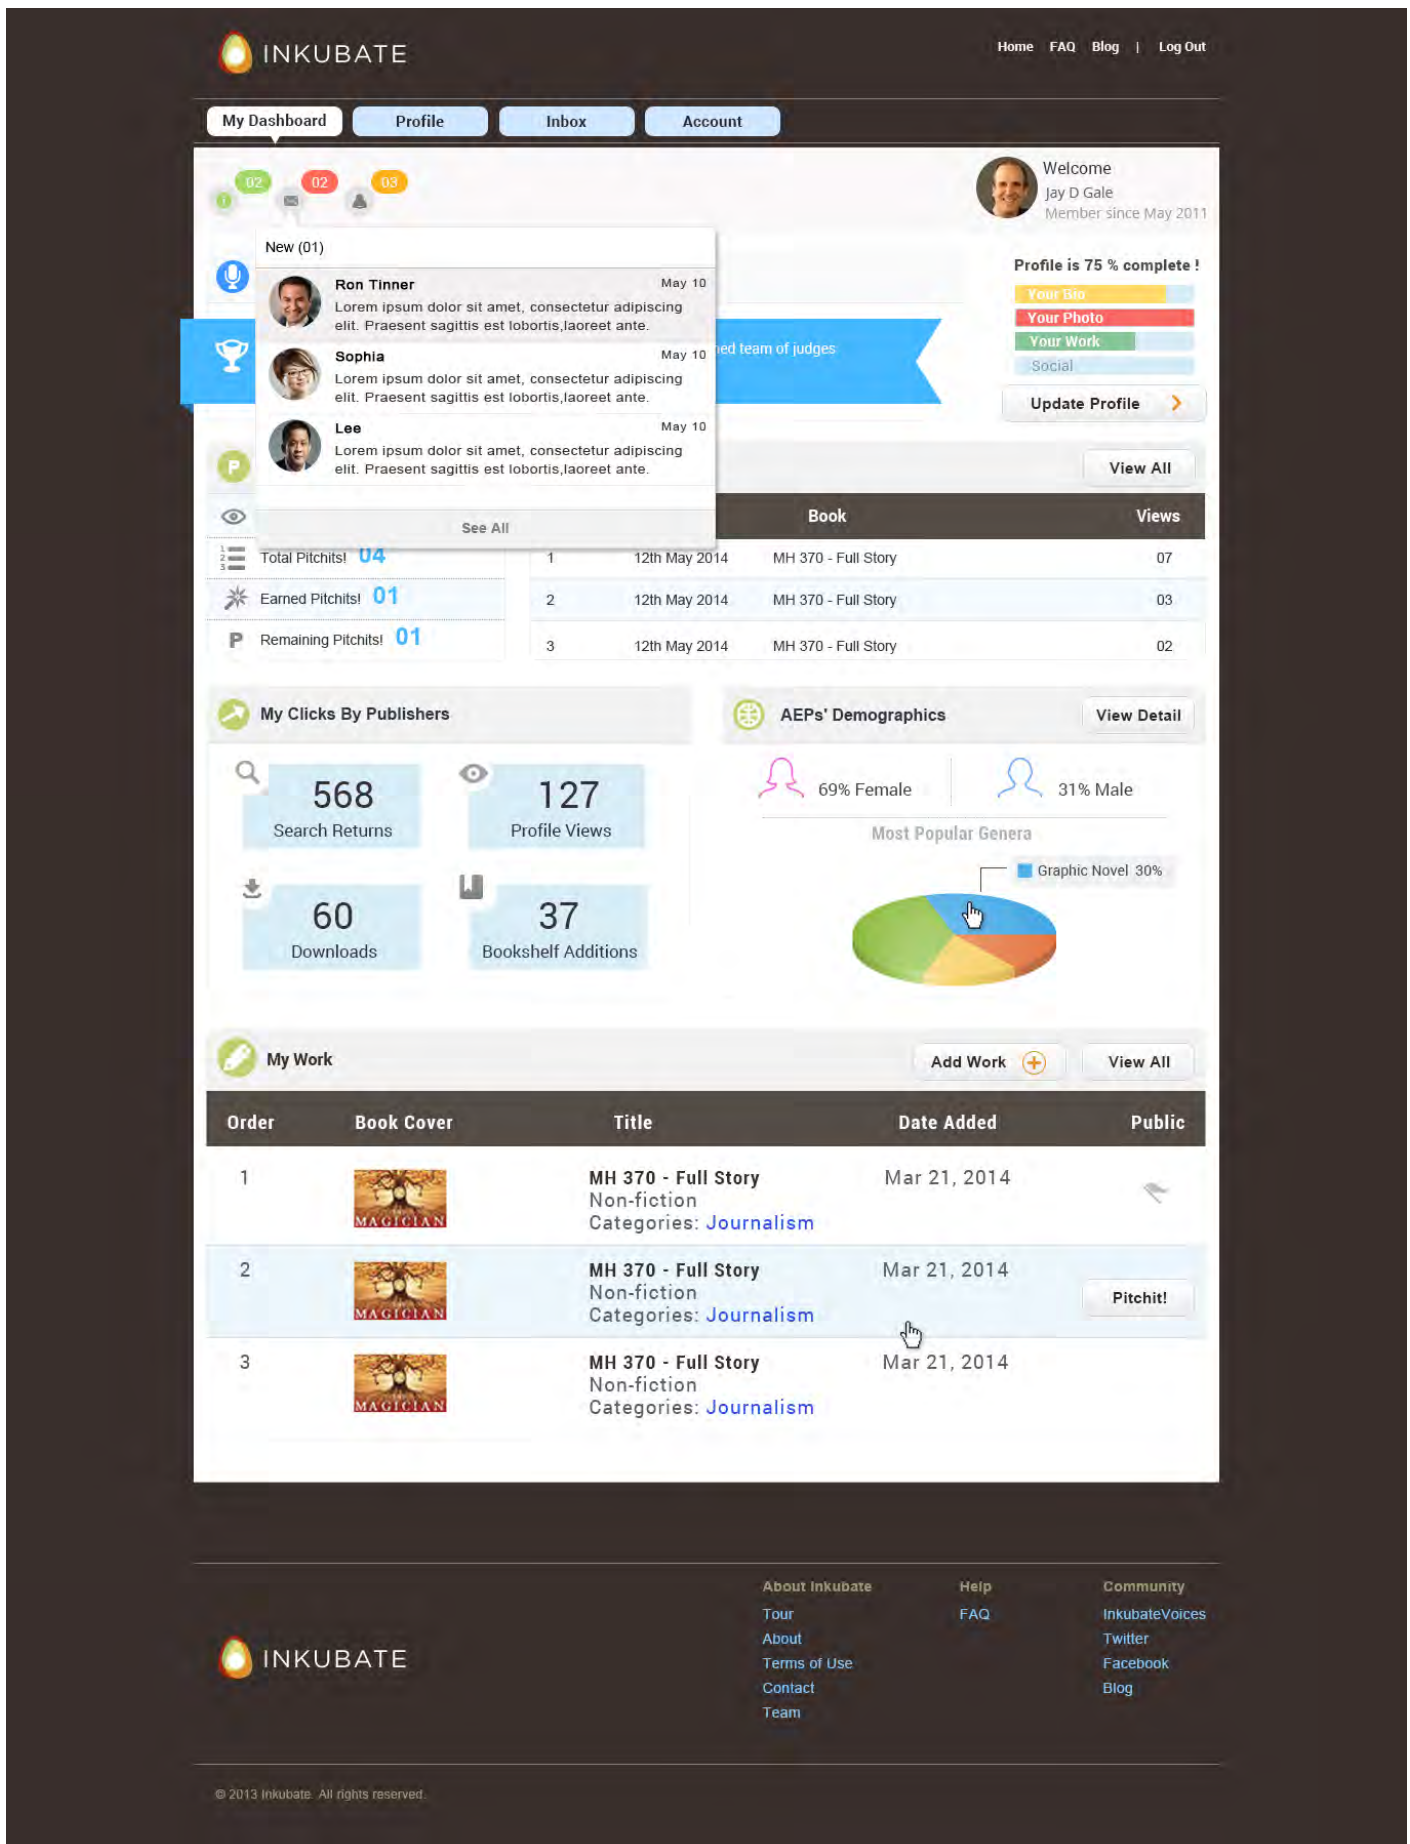

Comments:

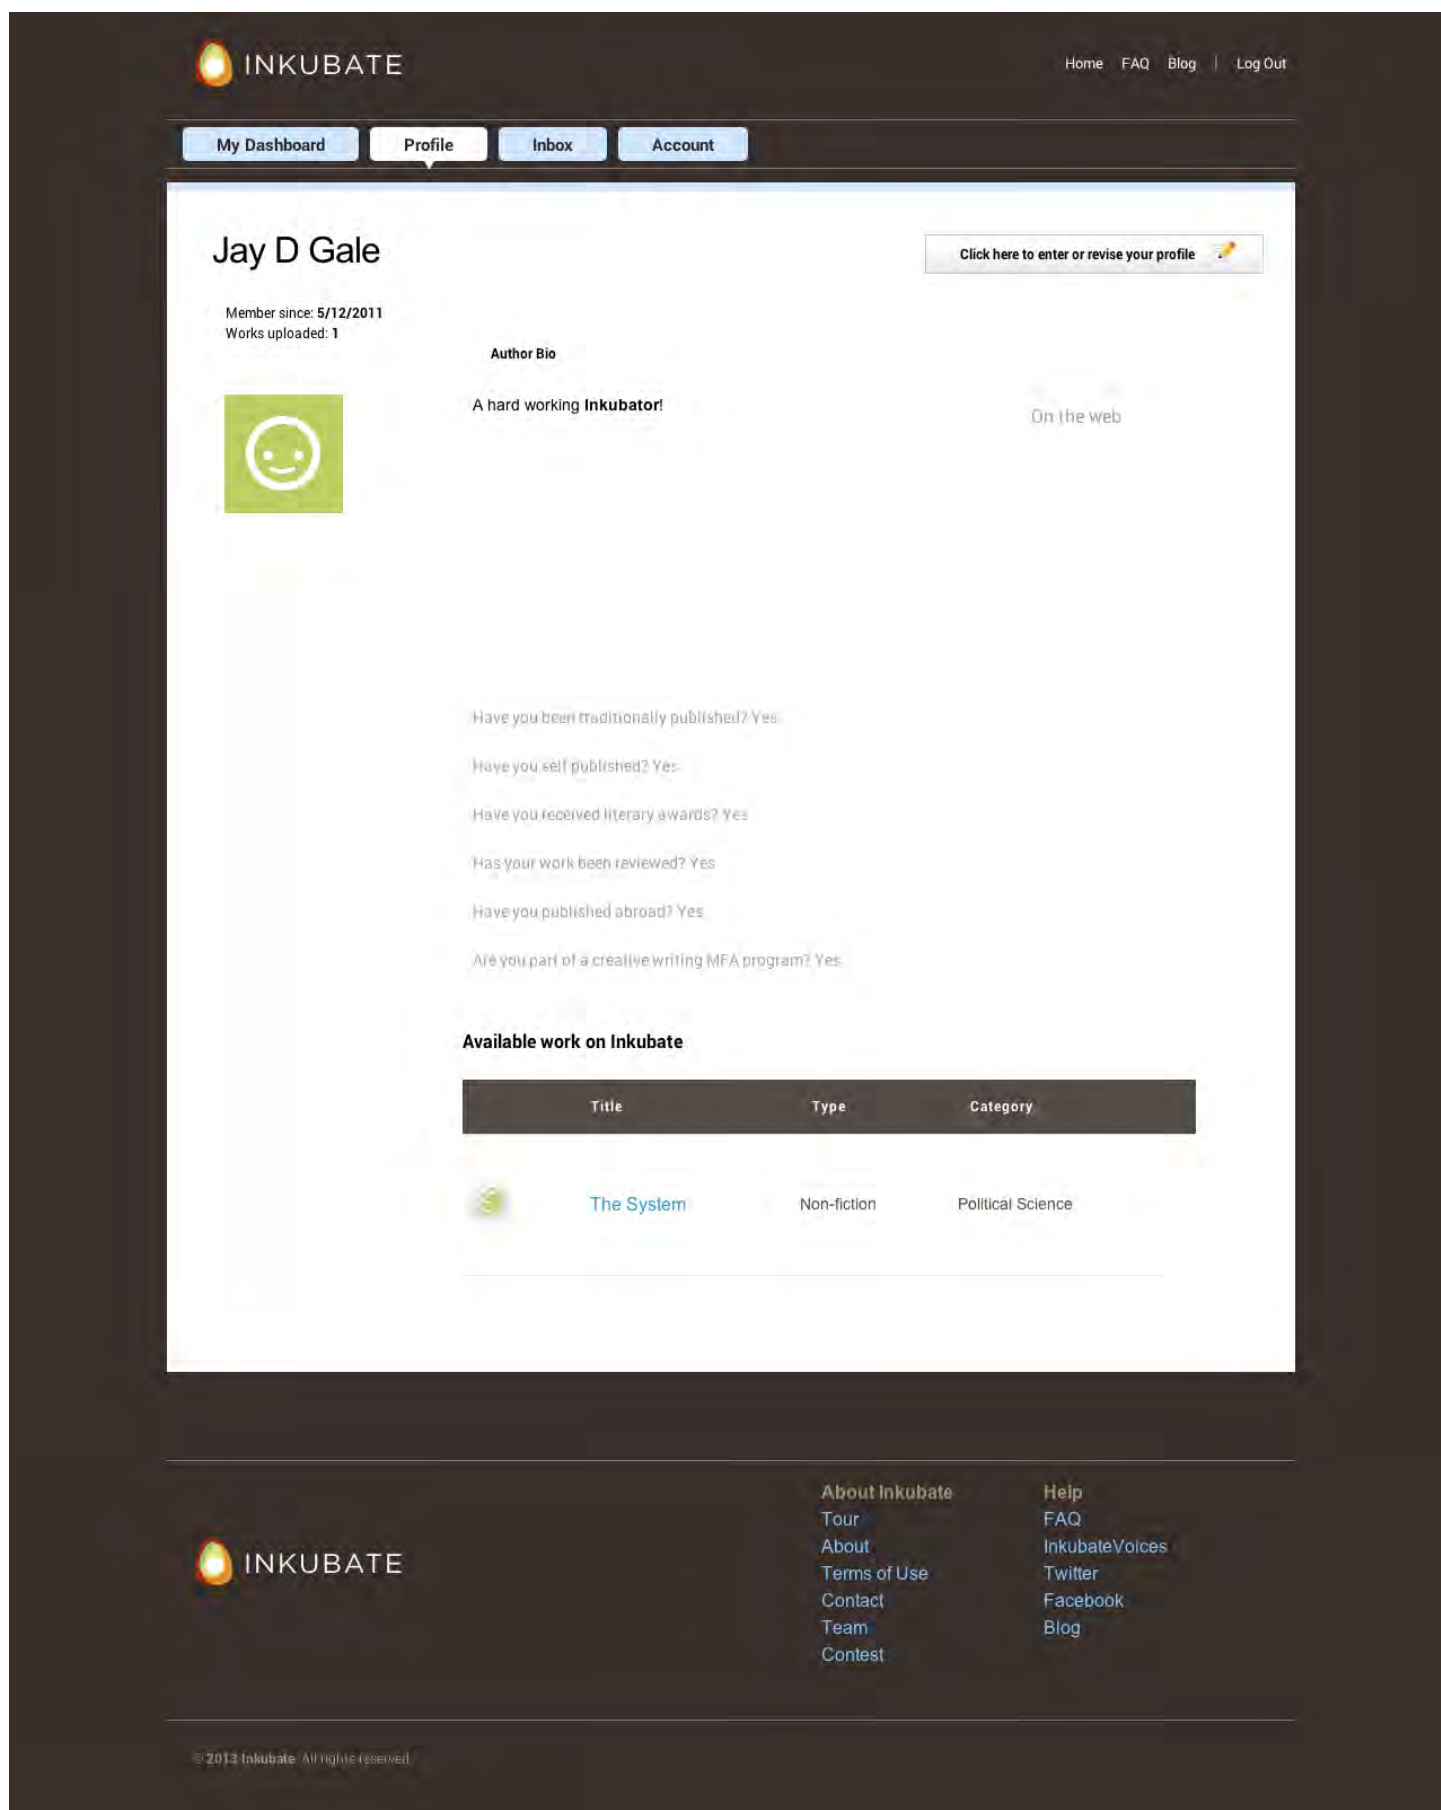

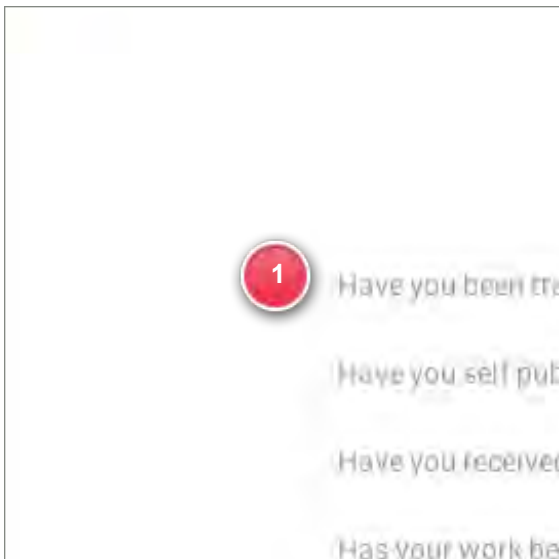

Jay Gale on Jul 29 at 2:14pm

Remove PI button. Too much redundancy.

Comments:

Jay Gale on Aug 6 at 2:34am

Shov - we know we want to add more profile questions. You had suggested making that part of the login process every second or third time a writer logs in in order to make the gathering of this information less intrusive.

We should discuss this and whether or not all the questions should also appear here in the event that a writer wants to answer them all at once. Maybe there is a notice saying "Click here to answer all of the profile questions."

The Views will be the only clickable header. By clicking the user will see all the data repopulates so that the PI with the most Views will appear at the top of the page.

By clicking on Views a second time, the data repopulates to its original default view.

Messages should be color coded following envelope and bell icons on dashboard. Should be able to sort on that basis too. Messages from admin should have an eggy icon

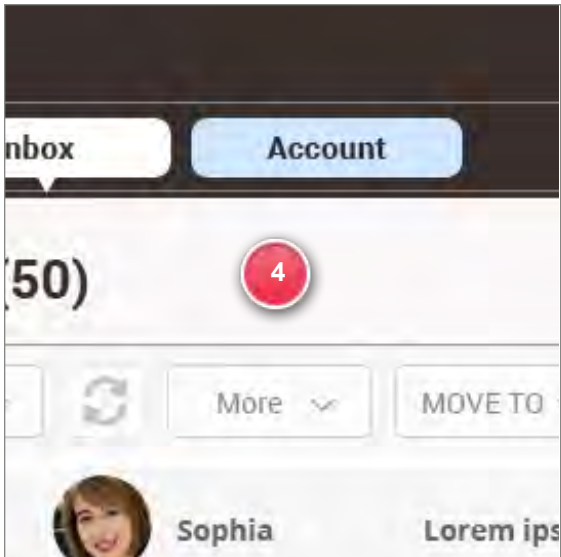

Comments:

Jay Gale on Jul 30 at 12:19am

This list should auto populate with contacts as they become available, also should have tech support as a contact and also an admin contact.

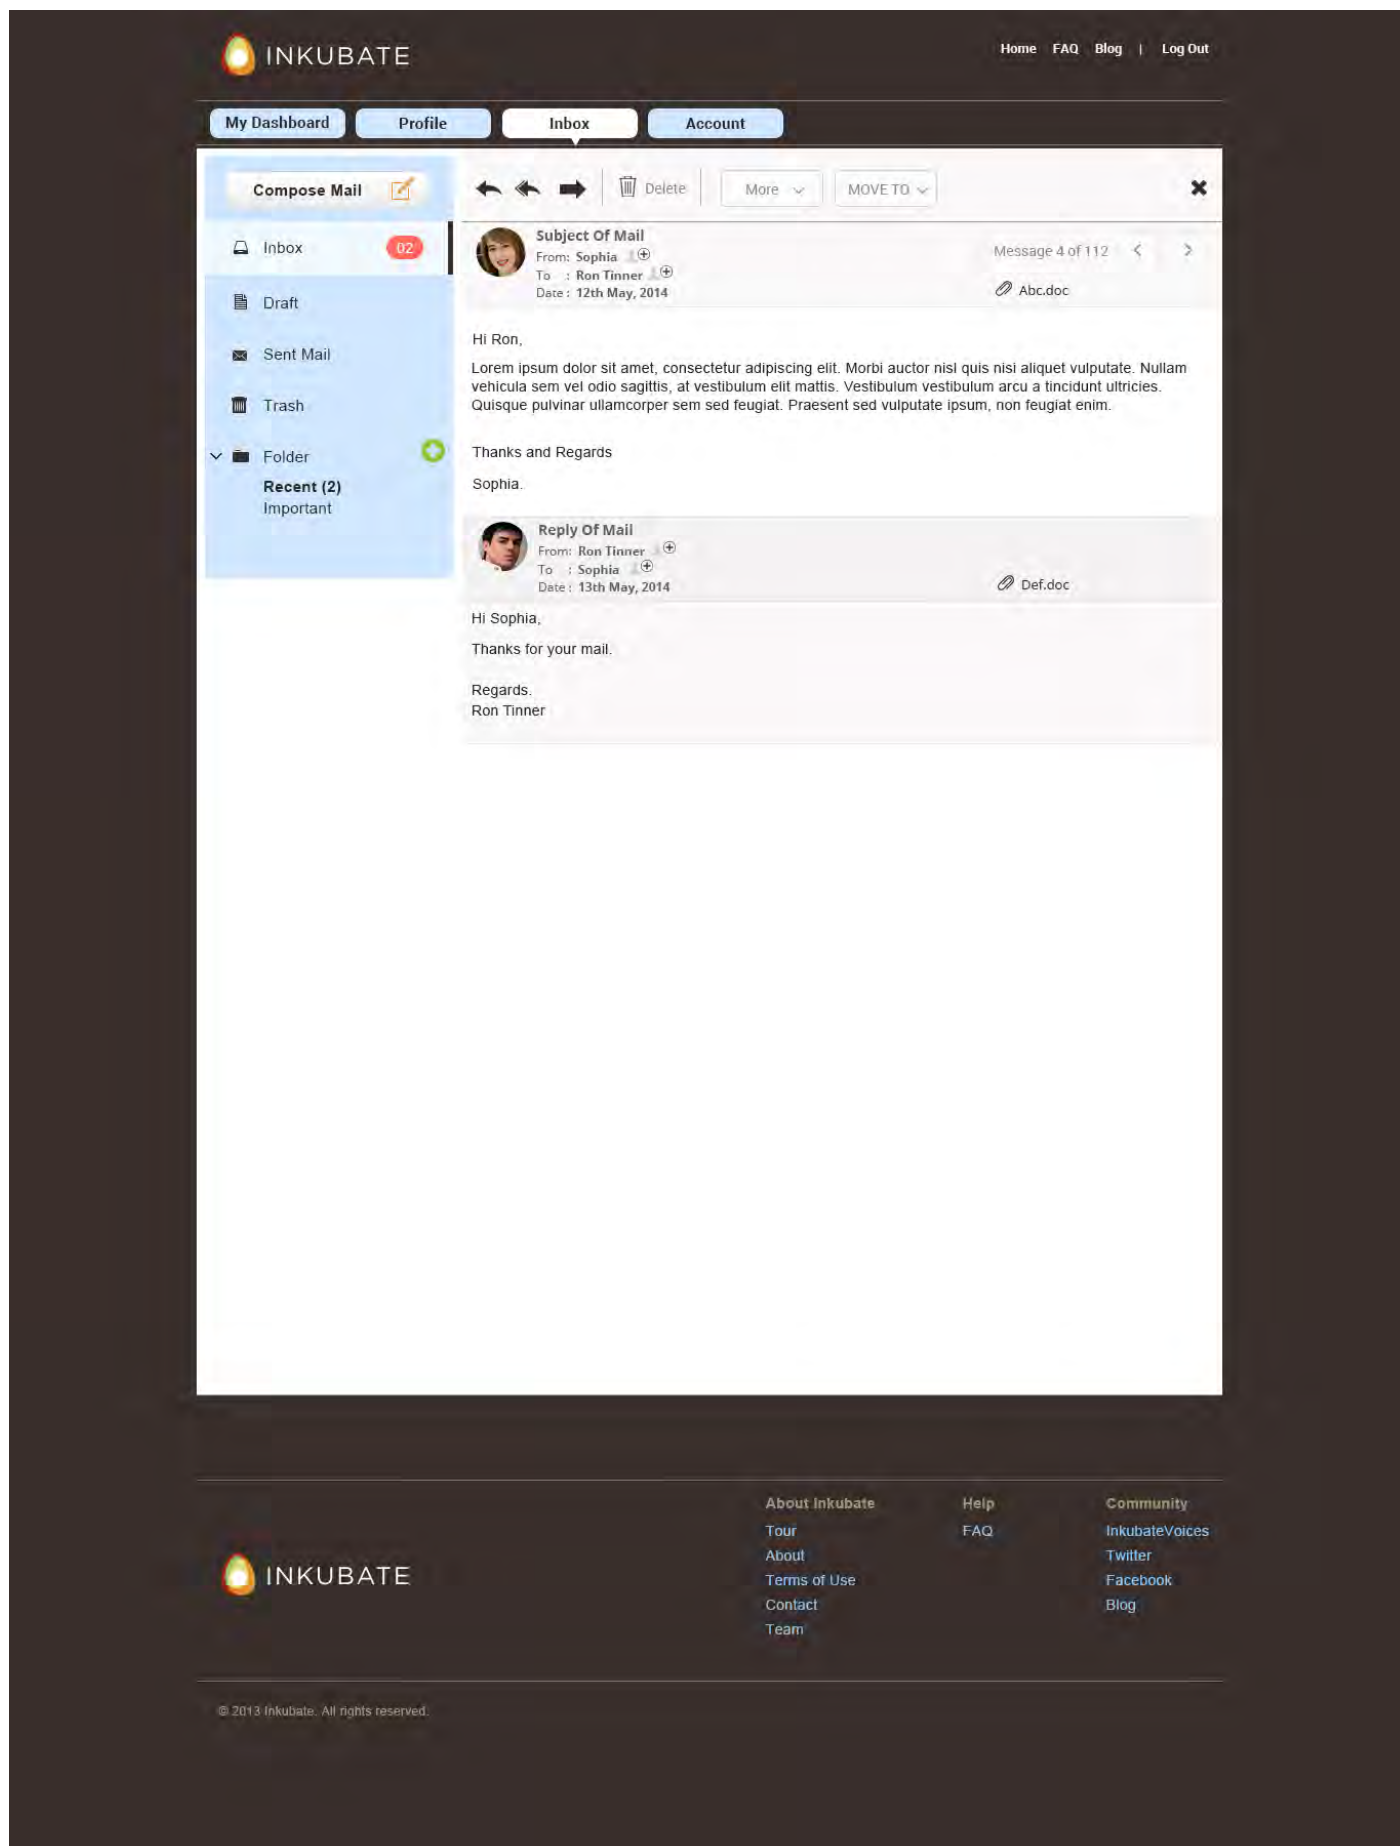

Comments:

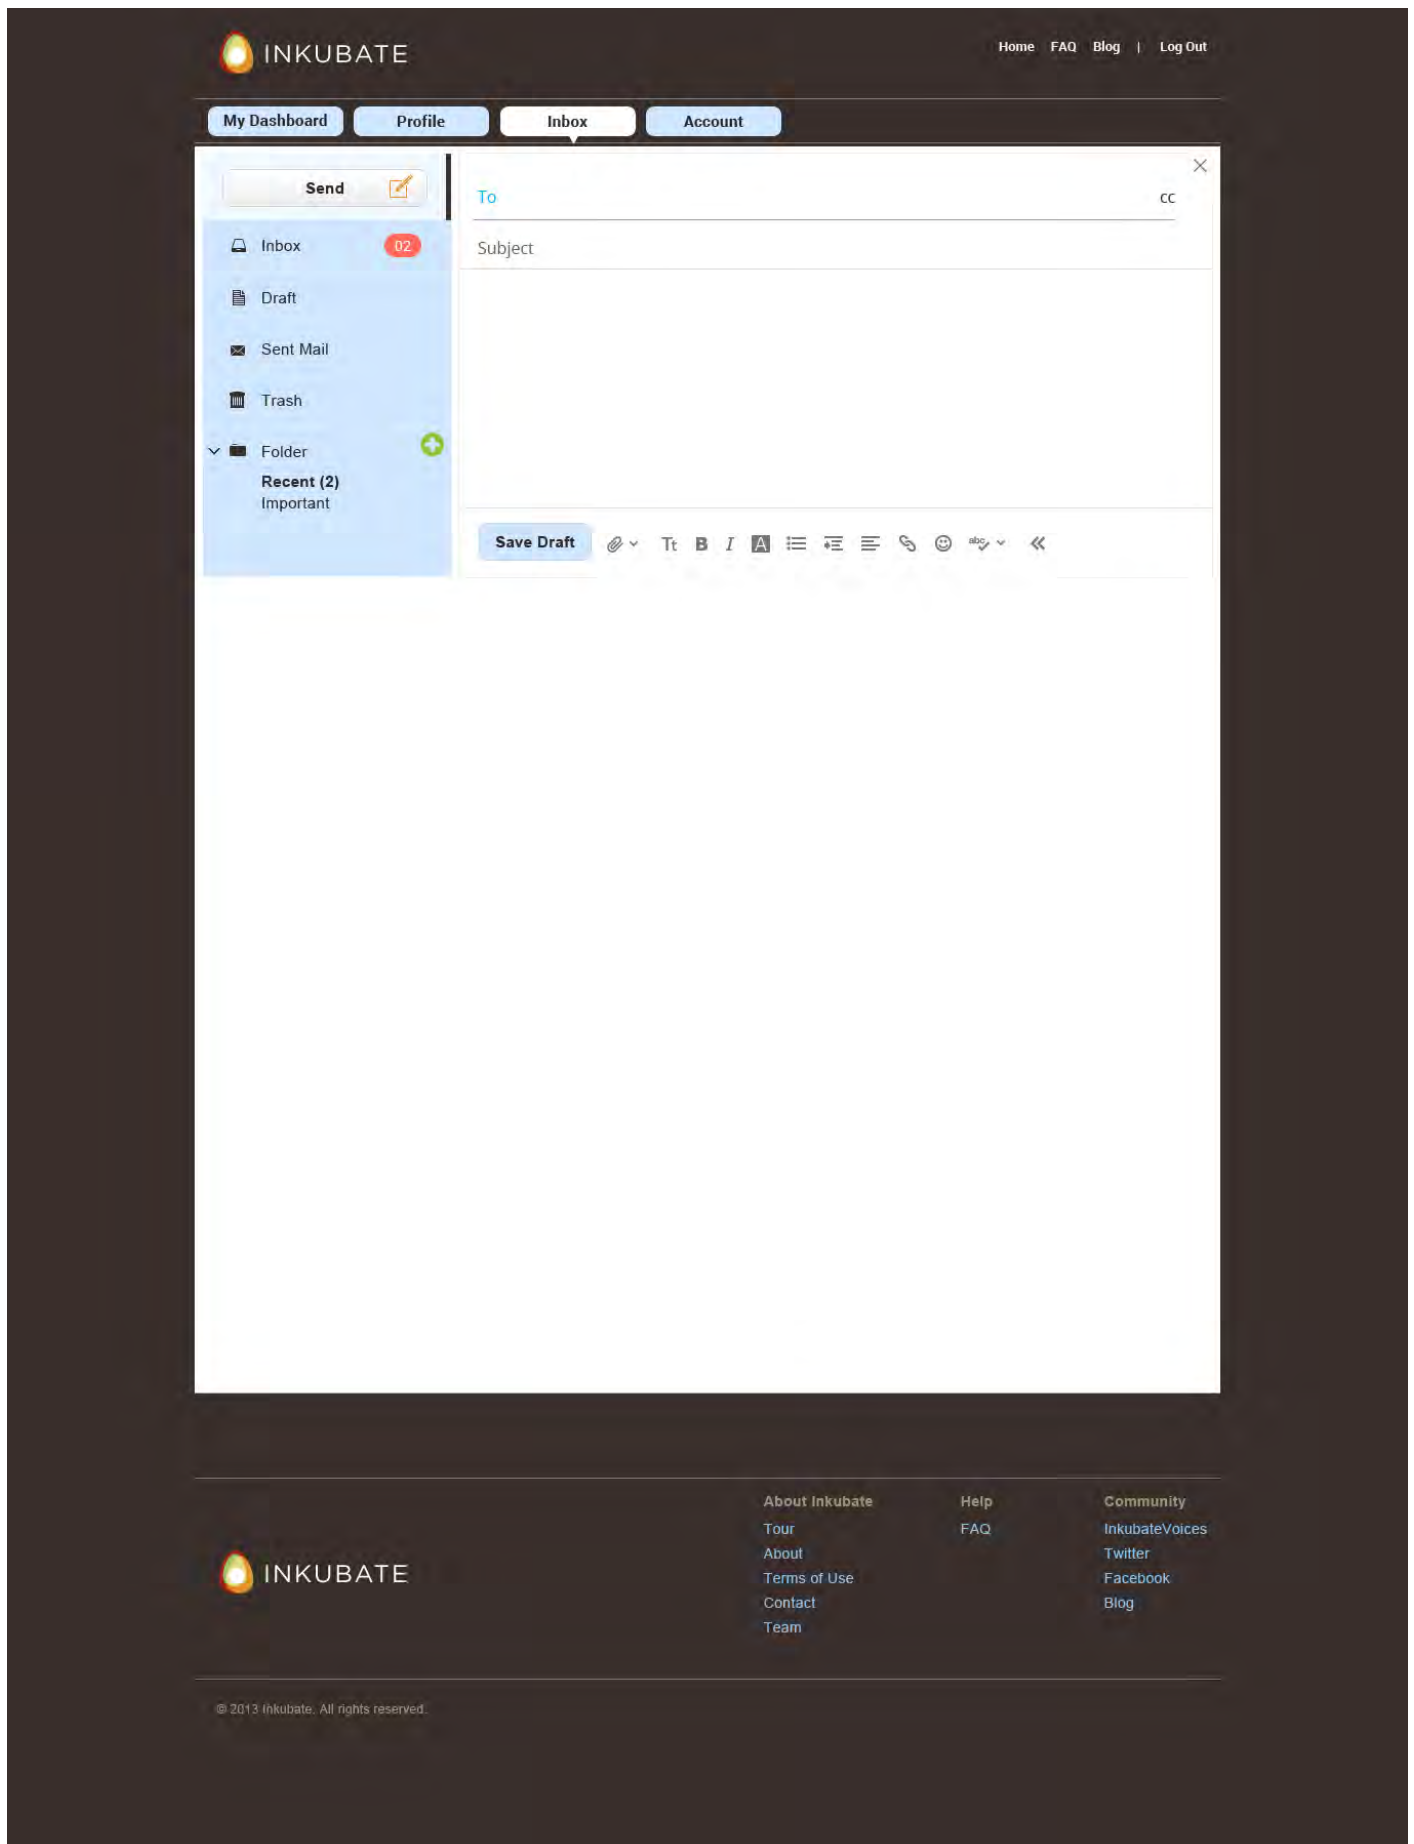

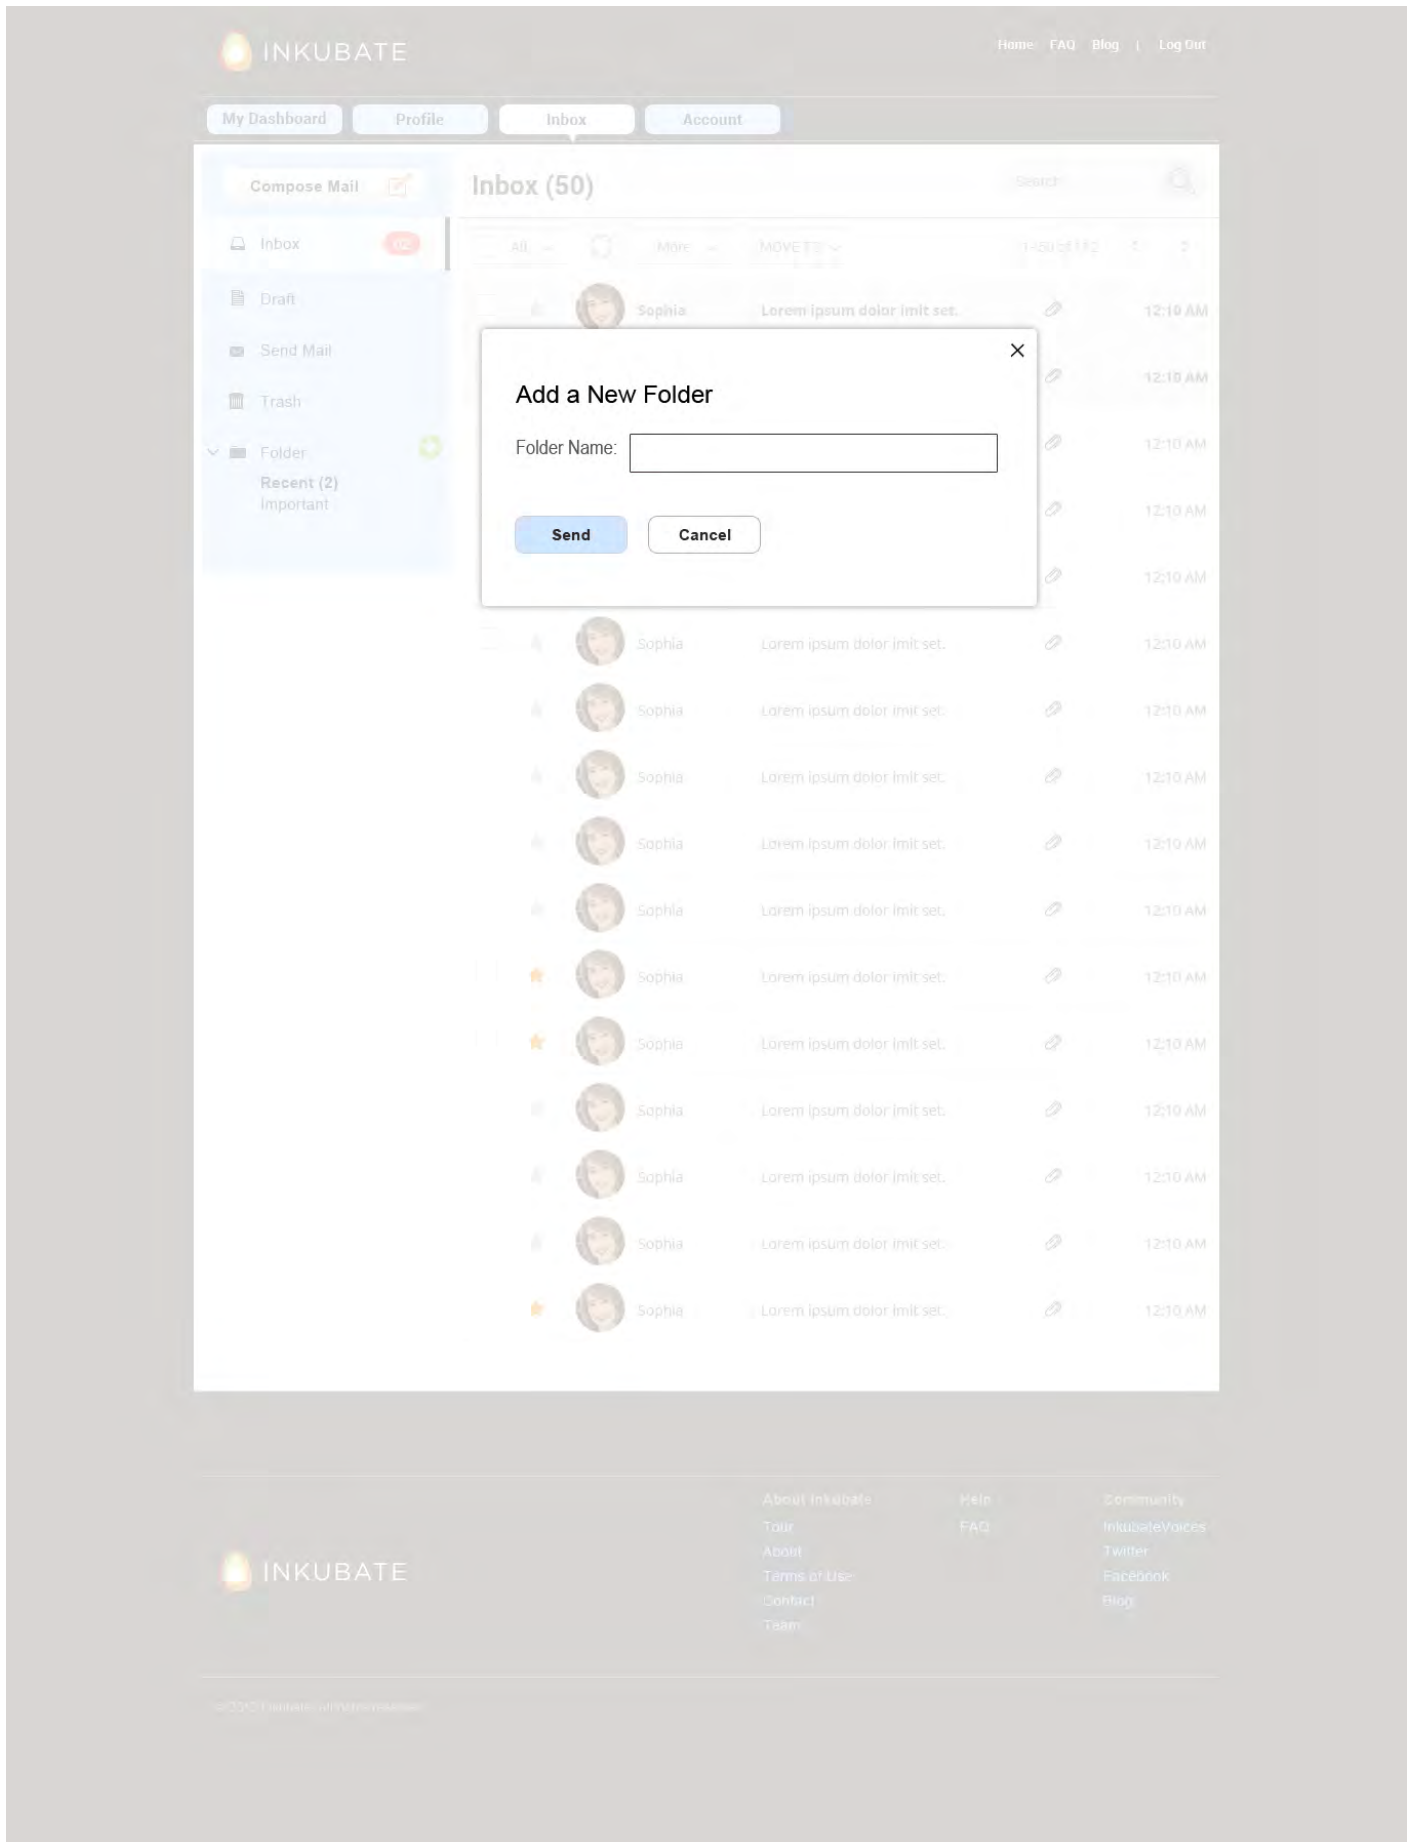

Jay Gale on Jul 30 at 12:26am

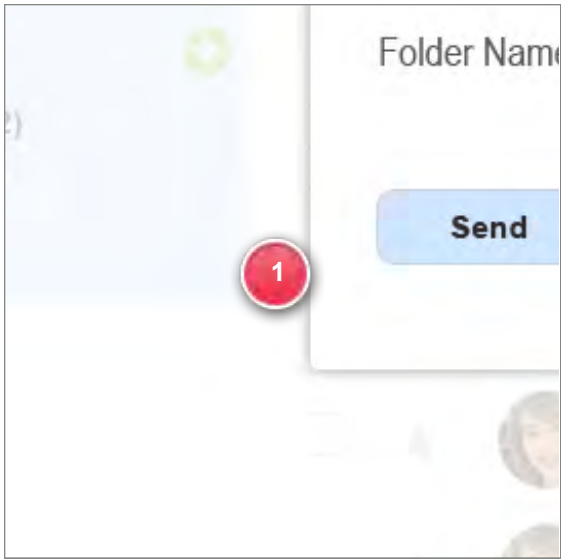

Since majority of writers will not ever hear from an AEP we need to think how to make messaging useful to other writers too. Perhaps we should consider intra-writer communication. . .Let's consider ramifications of publishing a writer directory here (any writer could opt out)

Comments:

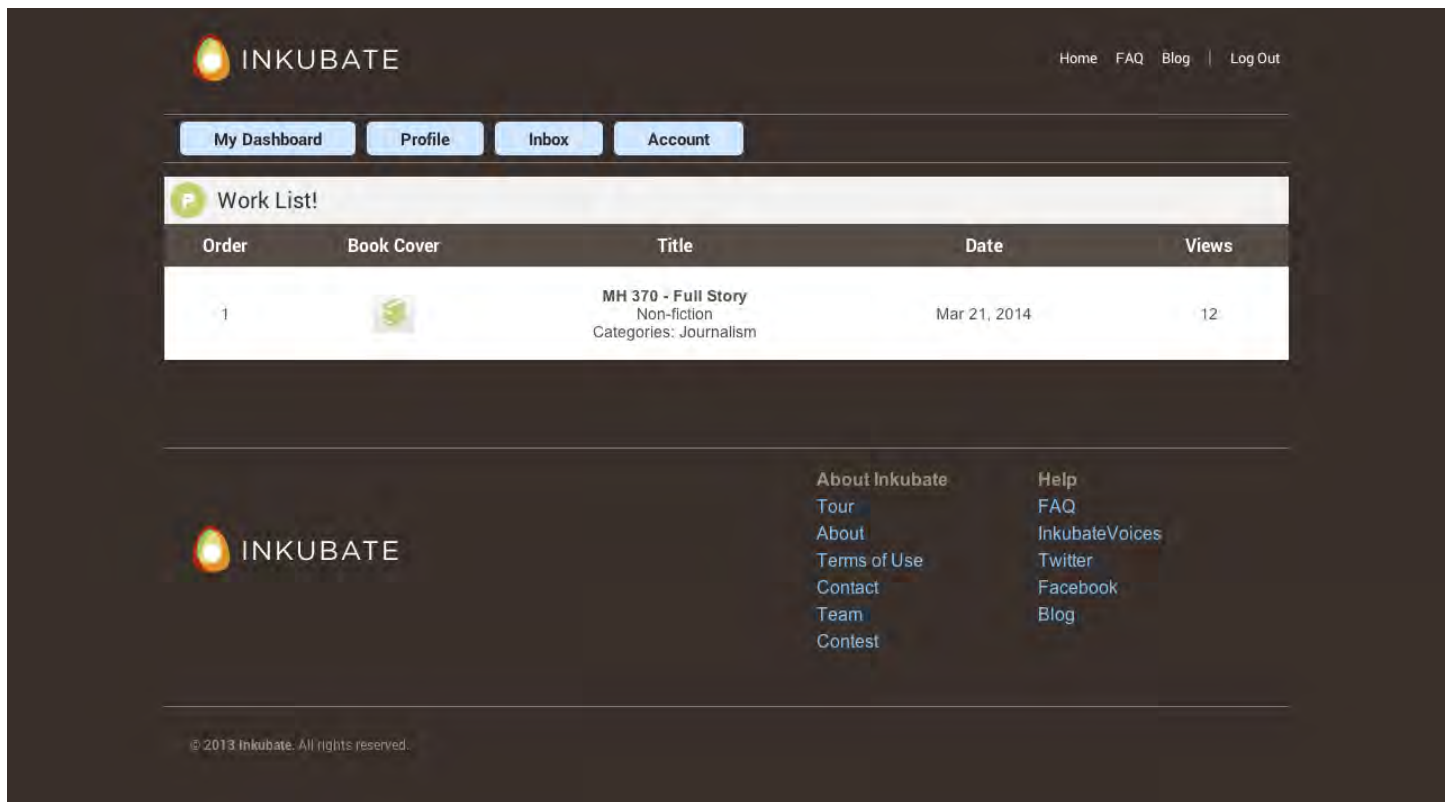

Jay Gale on Jul 29 at 12:12am
